St. Louis Cardinals Win National League Pennant

In one of the most sensational pennant race finishes for many years, Frankie Frisch's St. Louis Cardinals, won the National league pennant, Sunday, when they took their fourth straight victory from Cincinnati, while the New York Giants dropped their last two games with Brooklyn. Just over three weeks ago the Giants had a seven game lead, and it looked as if another pennant would soon be floating at the polo grounds. But two amazing things happened. The Cards went on a winning spree in which the Dean brothers played stellar roles, and the Giants just went to pieces. The final standing of the two clubs, was:

	W	L	Pct.
St. Louis	95	58	.621
New York	93	60	.608

St. Louis Cardinals Take First Game in Series 8-3

Navin Park, Detroit—In what proved to be a hectic game, the St. Louis Cards smothered the Tigers in a barrage of 13 hits today and won the first game of the 1934 world series, 8-3.

Detroit got away to a very woeful start, making no fewer than five errors in the first three innings, but after this settled down and fielded well for the remaining six innings. Dizzy Dean, ace of Cardinal's pitching staff, went the route allowing 8 hits which netted the Tigers three runs.

Crowder, who started for Detroit, was relieved by Marberry who was followed by Hogsett.

Of the 21 hits made, two were "homers". Medwick of the Cards got the first and Greenberg, (Tigers) got the second. Doubles were made by Dean and Delancy (Cards) and all other were singles.

The score by innings was:
St. Louis 021 014 000—8 13 2
Detroit 001 001 010—3 8 5

The second game will be played at Detroit tomorrow and then the teams go to St. Louis for the next three. If It's amazing. A casual remark (that any ball player might have passed as a good natured wise-crack) seems to have cost Col. Bill Terry and the New York Giants a National league pennant. Bill appears to have aroused the ire of the "Dodgers" by passing the remark, "Brooklyn, oh, are they still in the league?", and the wild men from "Over the Bridge" just naturally came over to show Bill and his boys that they still were very much in the league. In the process of showing them, the Dodgers administered two stinging defeats, which deprived the Giants of the chance for another National league pennant.

Baseball fans are funny. A better word would be fickle. Terry and Mel Ott, many times heroes of the Giants, were the last batters in their half of the 10th innings, in the second game with Brooklyn. The crowd stood up and booed them, as ball players have seldom been booed.

It may have been a disappointment to the New York fans to know they were not after all going to have a world series in their city, but we doubt if they were any more chagrined than the players of the team which performed brilliantly during the season and turned in many fine exhibitions before going into their unfortunate slump. To turn on their two old favorites, under the circumstances, was surely poor sportsmanship. The best of teams and players will have their off days.

Speaking of off days, we wonder how Messrs Dean and Dean will fare against the heavy hitters of the Detroit Tigers? The teams are well matched and the series should be a good one. Jim Marshall and I are pulling for Dee-troit, but with Frankie Frisch, Pepper Martin, and Dizzy Dean et al, agin' us, we may have to call on brother Walt to give us an assist with our "pull".

About Town and Country

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. H. Munroe of Oyen, at Cereal hospital on Friday, September 28, 1934, a son.

Mrs. S. Bowen returned home last Sunday from Kindersley, where she underwent a serious operation. She is making a satisfactory convalescence.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Kemp returned home yesterday from Calgary, where Mr. Kemp underwent a minor operation.

Masons from the Saskatchewan boundary to Delia will meet in Craigmyle, at their annual District Meeting, tomorrow.

Ernest Warwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Warwick of Oyen, was taken to Alsask hospital last week, a very sick boy. He is reported to be much improved now and will be brought home at the end of the week.

Approximately 100 families have been moved to date this season from the drought areas of south-eastern Alberta to new locations in the north country. This is far below the figures expected, and while there will be some further movement this fall, there will be, government officials now believe, no heavy exodus from the dry belt.

Handsome donations of vegetables have been made by a number of communities to families in the dried out areas in response to a recent appeal made by the provincial department of agriculture. Carloads are being shipped to the districts concerned from the following points: Sexsmith, Hythe, Wembley, Beaverlodge, Clairmont, Grand Prairie, all in the Peace River district, and Josephburg, Waskatenau, Bruderheim, Lamont and Fort Saskatchewan.
